THE FILM
The new fantasy film from Guillermo del Toro (Pan's Labyrinth) tells the story of a lonely worker in government lab, who uncovers a strange creature that's part of a top-secret experiment. While it's set during the Cold War, The Shape of Water is packed with modern political references – and a stellar cast, with Octavia Spencer, Sally Hawkins and Michael Shannon, who can do no wrong.

THE GEAR
Best known for its shaving sets, fragrances and toiletries, British company Czech & Speake has just launched a new range of well-play leather items. It features a selection of chic red or black Italian leather cardholders, as well as wash bags and travel cases. Priced at around $465 for a leather zip-around wallet. It is available now.

THE GIGS
Lana Del Rey is heading to Australia for her first set of tour dates since 2012; indie rockers The National are hitting Melbourne, Brisbane and the Sydney Opera House; and this year's Bluesfest in Byron Bay has another killer line-up, featuring Led Zeppelin's Robert Plant, Lionel Richie, Jackson Browne, Seal and many more.

THE FESTIVAL
Back for another year, the Adelaide Festival is once again a mixed bag of theatre, opera, dance, film, music and visual arts from around the world. A few of the highlights include The Lost and Found Orchestra (pictured), a symphony orchestra that performs using everyday objects; Bangarra Dance Theatre's latest work, Bennelong; and legendary singer Grace Jones, who is performing for one night only.

THE COLLAB
Porsche Design has teamed up with Chinese tech firm Huawei for a limited-edition new phone. The Huawei 'Mate 10' features some key Porsche design elements but the key here is subtlety, with a polished 'diamond black' finish and a premium leather case. It also packs 6GB RAM, 256GB ROM storage – and a price tag that puts it in iPhone 'X' territory.
